President Speaks

Prachodana Social Service Society is the official social service department of the Malankara Catholic Church, Gurgaon Diocese. We are publishing our First Annual Report after the establishment of our new Diocese on May 1st 2015. Now Prachodana had completed 6 years of its social and charitable services to humanity and one year as a Diocesan Social Service Society. As the Gurgaon Diocese is extended to many North Indian States, Prachodana also has developed its service centres over there. Through these years Prachodana made a pursuit to enable and empower people across thresholds and boundaries. Prachodana is a volunteer-based organization that is firmly rooted in its philosophy of providing a helping hand wherever needed, in times of immediate crisis, to pre-empt social and community issues and to promote responsible citizenship wherever possible. I am really happy that through Prachodana the teaching of Jesus Christ is realized among the people we work for. Jesus taught us to love others and live for others. Through each of its programs, Prachodana brings this basic element of love and care. Thus with this humanitarian spirit Prachodana hopes to establish a strong network of socially conscious citizens, through whom the programs would further spread to more states and communities across the nation.

Yours in our Lord,

†Jacob Mar Barnabas

Director's message

This year, we celebrate our 6th anniversary. Six years of dedicated service among the poor including children and women in urban and rural areas of Delhi and other Northern states of India, gives us high satisfaction and joy to work for the underprivileged and destitutes. Our journey with the poor has been full of learning, with plenty of both success and challenges. Prachodana started its humble efforts for a thirst to serve Humanity, and evolved over time and emerged successful in many ways. It made impacts in the lives of various segments of community groups, children, youth, women, etc. who have been vulnerable and continue to be so. During these days we are in the process of adopting self-reliance, a concept very essential for humanity, human dignity and wellbeing. Actually past years were very exciting and it wouldn't have been a success without the support of our innovative partners, well wishers and volunteers. We are really thankful to all the partners who contributed their time and resources to support Prachodana initiatives and in future we would be happy to continue our collaborative work together.

Major Interventions:

A. Food for the Hungry

Through Prachodana's "Food for Hungry" project food packets are distributed to the physically handicapped, the mentally challenged, the sick, old and the starving children, 99% of them are homeless and have no one to depend on. Nearly 300 food packets are distributed on a daily basis by Prachodana and on special occasions like Diwali, Christmas, Id etc, the numbers increase to 1500 packets a day. We have been distributing food to these starving stomachs since May 2010.

B. Clothing and Mobile Clinic

During our work of distribution of food packets we saw so many people who were infected with deep unhealed wounds, and largely infected with maggots all across the wounded area, a site not many people can witness. We decided to convert the food distribution vans into mobile clinics and our volunteers armed with antiseptic creams, and medicines started nursing the wounds of these people themselves. As a result a number of people are now cured and are living a much better life.

C. 'Shanti Ashram' - A Home For The Destitute

Shanti Ashram which is located in Jasola Vihar, New Delhi is a home for nearly 15 sick, old age and destitute people who were living a life without any hope on the streets and those who are dying on the street without getting any assistance from any corner. Here, they are provided with food, clothing, medicine and medical care. During their stay, we try to identify their families and try to rehabilitate them with their families. Those who have no families of their own, continue to stay in the Ashram.

D. Education

Prachodana believes that everyone in the society deserve the opportunity to be included in 'lifelong learning'. Our lives, our environment and our societies are changing so rapidly that we all need to get access to education to keep pace with developments around us. Prachodana attempts to address the issue of lack of education for 4- 15 years of age, children through a tuition centre for around 80 children at Neb Sarai and Non-formal education centre at the slum in Mansaravor Park where nearly 60 children are taught.

E. Community Development

Prachodana works with rural poor community in select locations in Kolkata (West Bengal), Jaipur (Rajasthan), Bhopal (Madhya Pradesh), North-East, Surat, Baroda, Ahmadabad (Gujarat), Punjab and Odisha. This is done by organizing the community in small groups (like Self Help Groups and Joint Liability Groups), formation of youth clubs, health awareness classes, agricultural activities and livelihood activities are the features of the programme. We are planning to implement the programme in a comprehensive manner in all our programmes areas in near future.

As per the discussion made on the training, Prachodana has developed a "Child Protection Policy" for staff, colleagues, outsiders and children under the care of PSSS. The document is an effort to make these stakeholders understand more about child protection and to protect the rights of the children. This document is a group effort of all the staff who works with PSSS.

The purpose of the workshop was to create awareness on Child Protection issues and to understand the importance of developing a Child Protection Policy and facilitate the staff to work on developing the same for the organization through a collaborative process. The training sessions covered different aspects of child rights, child protection, various child development programs etc. One session with our Non Formal Centre children (both boys and girls) also was conducted to elicit the opinions and feelings of them in this regard. Children shared their views on how they would want adults and peer groups to behave with them and how they would want to be treated by the organizational staff.

The PSSS Child Protection Policy (CPP) provides a framework for communication, recruitment and Orientation of staff, code of conduct of persons involved with children, and agency practices etc.Prachodana hopes that this Child Protection Policy would ensure a safe, secure and safe environment for our children so that they can enjoy respect, freedom, safety, values and good education and are empowered to build a safe future for themselves.

The beneficiaries of this program were our non formal education centre children. They were trained with ornaments making. There are many youths wandering in the streets without jobs. Reaching to more hungry stomachs with a onetime meal

Sr. Nirmal SIC, Food For the Hungry Programme In Charge

Around 50 collection centres are there so far for this particular program apart from house food collection. Around 100000 hungry stomachs have been fed this year through this program. The participation and persistent service of volunteers in this programme helped our programme in a great manner.

At Prachodana we have gone to the root of the problem of hunger and the needy are being given one good, hearty meal every day. This has encouraged thousands of people including children across

New Delhi. Over the years, at Prachodana we have realized that there is an indelible link between hunger and education. However, our work doesn't end here. We have a long way to go. And we need more people to come along, to join hands with us.

We are thankfully remembering the relentless service of Sr. Bencitta who passed away this February 16 2016 due to cancer. She was our Project in Charge for the same programme from 2010 onwards.

Shanti Ashram extends its services to many homeless

Mr. Anil K Joy

Since this first step, the Ashram's activities have expanded to many of the homeless. So far we have provided Shelter, Food, Medical Support, Physical Care, Developmental Intervention and Rehabilitation to around 30 homeless and mentally challenged who were found abandoned at various public places around Delhi. Shanti Ashram has 14 members right now. Among the inmates 8 people have gone back to their houses, after finding their relatives. They were well treated by our staff during their stay in our house. During these years 7 were died of disease and other old age difficulties.

These people are often in dangerous situations as they are left to the mercy of stray animals, insects, anti-social elements and unhygienic conditions. There are also members who are left out by parents or relatives as they are unable to take care of them mainly due to social and medical reasons.

We, along with our team are committed to provide love and care to needy and work selflessly in making a positive change in the lives of destitutes who need care and protection through our centre.Every person deserves quality life and we try to bring them here for this reason with the cooperation of all our well wishers. I am thanking all my supporters for the same.

Bringing hopes in Children's life

Sr. Amal George D.M.

Prachodana NFE programme prepares slum children/drop-outs for mainstreaming by proactively tracking them down, motivating them to go back to school, helping them catch up on the studies they missed. We are trying to make our children to get into a world without prejudice, in which every human being has the opportunity to fulfill their potential, regardless of their background or beliefs. We aim to do this by challenging the ignorance and prejudice that trap people in poverty. Our Manasarovar Park is a fully slum area and children coming from this place have got a culture with unhygienic, disrespect and violence aspects. Children here are very happy now with all our staff and children and they are trying to come very neatly to our centre different from once they used to come. We are thankfully remembering all our supporters for making this programme a big success.

Shining Stars in Nebsrai Non Formal Education Centre

Annie Thomas

Non Formal Education Centre, Nebsarai aims to bring sunshine into the lives of poor and destitute sections of society they require intervention in the field of education. Here we work to empower vulnerable children, and their parents as well through our various interventions of teaching, interaction, counselling, medical help and food. We give opportunities to the children to express their opinions and feelings. It helps them to develop their self confidence, self esteem and decision making skill. This has been made possible only through the support of like-minded people, donors and partners who believed in Prachodana's work and mission. I am expressing my gratitude for all the supporters in a heartfelt way.

Major Activities in 2014-15

I) 'Shanti Ashram'- Home for the Destitute:

During these years of pro-poor activities, the 'Prachodana' staff and volunteers have witnessed several instances of pain and suffering of the sick and dying on the streets. Attempts to find them and abode in hospitals and rehabilitation centers would often fail as these places would have no space to accommodate them. This dream has turned into a reality with the inauguration of 'Shanti Ashram- Prachodana home for the Destitute' on 2nd October 2014 by His Beatitude Cardinal Baselios Cleemis, the Major-Archbishop Catholicos of the Malankara Catholic Church and Fr. Varghese Mattamana, as its first Director. The inmates are provided with food, clothing, medicine and medical care. During their stay, if their families are identified they will be sent back to their home after their treatment. Those who have no families of their own, continue to stay back in the Ashram. At present, we have fifteen members in the centre, served by three staff members.

II) Non formal Education for the less privileged at Manasarovarpark:

This programmeaims education to the under privileged children through a centre for providing non- formal education, midday meals, medical care, and clothing. This centre was inaugurated on December 2016 by H.E. Dr. Jacob Mar Barnabs. The basic education for the children belonging to five to ten years of age of slum dwellers at Mansaravor Park, New Delhi is conducted in a shed provided by the government, there. At present, there are sixty students who are enrolled for the basic education programme. The children of families with extreme poverty background are being taken care here.

Conclusion

Prachodana began with a dream. This dream is being fulfilled through many ways. Our people help us through their prayers, voluntary work through their involvement in various activities and they provide support through financial donations as well and help us to reach out to many. There is no limit in work and activities. We have to move step by step ahead to achieve our aims and objectives. We think we are still far away from our goal. In future days we have target to undertake more and more developmental projects to empower the rural human resources to achieve our goal. We are hoping for the best in our future activities and thankfully remembering our beloved Bishop Most Rev. Dr. Jacob Mar Barnabas, all other priests, Nuns, Youths and Mothers in our Church, Our well wishers and Donors etc... Our good Lord entrusted to work with his people and he gives us the strength to do all services with a divine spirit. Hereby we are concluding our Annual Report with gratitude to our Almighty once again.
